Two U. S. Soldiers Touch Off Trouble in Belfast Streets

Appearance There Today, Against Orders, Not Explained at Once

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The appearance of two United States soldiers on Belfast streets today soon after Thomas J. Williams, 18-year-old member of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, was hanged in a heavily guarded jail for killing a policeman.

When police sought to disperse a crowd of about 300 persons, angrily shouting at the Americans, "Why don't you stay at home?" two demonstrators hurled missiles.

The police charged with drawn batons and the crowd quickly scattered. Other throngs had collected outside the jail where Williams was hanged, but, save for a mild street demonstration, there had been no other outbreak.

This northern Ireland capital had been declared out of bounds for United States troops, and the presence of the two soldiers, neither of whom was harmed, was not immediately explained.

Nazi-Style Salutes
The crowd was singing Irish republican songs when the soldiers first were seen. The Americans were greeted with stiff-armed Nazi-style salutes and jeering comment.

Two of the demonstrators were arrested on charges of rioting and were sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

All United States troops in northern Ireland had been ordered to stay out of Belfast today to avoid any violence against them on the part of IRA members who bitterly opposed the execution and have claimed the right to clear

Wives Will Battle for Spouse's Body

Los Angeles, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The courts on Friday will begin delving into the dual identity of a bigamous architect who in life fashioned bridges and in death left behind him the design for a complicated legal battle over his body and his estate.

The man is Louis L. Huot, as he was known in the city engineer's office where he worked, or Louis H. Meeks, as he was listed in directories.

And the legal battle was assured yesterday when Mrs. Ethel Huot, 58, his first wife, applied for an injunction to prevent wife No. 2, Mrs. Olive Blanche Meeks, 63, from disposing of his remains or his property, estimated at $30,000.

An investigator said yesterday that a showdown between the two women with whom he had lived separately in the same city 18 years was forestalled only by his death.

L. H. Phillips, Mrs. Huot's attorney, said that his client became concerned more than a year ago when Huot disappeared and was absent two months without a word.

Phillips said Mrs. Huot received a letter from him stating he was ill but not disclosing his whereabouts. Private detectives were engaged but their efforts disclosed only the fact that he had assumed another name. Not until last week, the attorney reported, was he traced to the home where he lived with Mrs. Meeks.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst
(Telegraph Special Service)

Nazi Field Marshal Rommel's attack against the British in the Egyptian desert bears the earmarks of being the big show for which we've been waiting—an all-out German effort to make quick conquest of Egypt and the Suez Canal.

This action is part of Hitler's grand strategy for overrunning the Caucasus and Middle East. He is placing wholesale dependence on this vast operation to win him the war.

Rommel's drive is inaugurated at the peak of the crisis in his master's battle in southwestern Russia. It comes at the critical moment when Stalingrad is in grave danger, and the Nazi chief is threatening to break through into the lower Caucasus.

Thus we have a classic example of Nazi co-ordination on a big scale. Actually Marshal Rommel's forces form the right flank of Hitler's Caucasian drive. The Fuehrer's plan for this operation, which encompasses many countries, is this:

If Rommel can overrun Egypt, capturing the great naval base of Alexandria, Port Said and the Canal, he will pretty well have nullified the effectiveness of the British fleet in the eastern Mediterranean. This will render the whole Middle East vulnerable to attack.

Meantime Hitler hopes to capture Stalingrad and crack the Red line which now bars him from a drive southward through the Caucasus to the northern border of the Middle East. Should he succeed, he and his henchmen would be in position to make an assault from both east and west on the prize comprising Palestine, Syria, Iran and Iraq—a nutcracker movement.

And it's important to note that could be carried out after winter had largely stopped fighting on the Russian front north of the Caucasus. The winter isn't severe in the southern Caucasus, and military operations both there and in the Middle East would be quite feasible.

With this background it's obvious that the allies must stop both Rommel in Egypt and his

U. S. Soldier Discovers Something Wrong During Ride in British Auto

London, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Private Ora A. Foster, 22-year-old soldier from Rochester, Mich., said today that "like most soldiers I did all the talking at first" when a lady graciously gave him a lift in her limousine.

Finally she asked: "You don't know who I am, do you?"

He replied politely: "I can't say as I do."

She identified herself as Queen Mother Mary.

"I couldn't think of a thing to say," Foster confessed. Foster was walking along an English country road Saturday evening when he thumbed a ride in the big car.

He acknowledged today he

Rationing of Fuel Oil; Curtailment of Gasoline Seen

Middle Western States May Be Included in New Restrictions

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Fuel oil rationing and probably further curtailment of gasoline consumption today confronted eastern householders and motorists.

Confirming reports that the east would have less oil for heating homes, War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson asserted yesterday that a rationing program would be announced soon, perhaps later this week, and might affect some midwestern states.

A committee formed by the Petroleum Industry War Council to study oil trends suggested also that because eastern gasoline consumption in the last two months exceeded expectation, the four-gallon-unit value of ration coupons might have to be reduced.

Commenting on the situation at his press conference, President Roosevelt said the curtailment of

Urges 50 Pct. Tax on Excess Earnings

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A proposal for a 50 per cent levy on the excess earnings of individuals was drafted by Senator Connally (D-Tex.) today as the senate finance committee awaited an outline from the treasury of its suggestions for an unprecedented spending tax.

Connally said he had asked legislative aides to draw an amendment to the new revenue bill patterned after the excess profits tax on corporations.

He explained that the proposed amendment would fix a base period to compute average earnings of an individual in much the same manner that such earnings are figured for corporations which use this method for ascertaining excess profits tax liability.

If an individual made more money in 1942 than the average for the base period, it was Connally's proposal that he be taxed 50 per cent of his additional or excess earnings. He said some allowances would have to be made for persons who are on a fixed salary basis with automatic yearly increases in pay.

Connally said he planned to submit his amendment after the treasury lays before the committee a new program of individual taxation built around the proposed spending tax.

Report FDR Ready to Tie War Wages to Cost of Living

President Undecided on Course Regarding Farm Prices

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—From usually reliable administration sources it was learned today that President Roosevelt has about decided to stabilize wages, but is debating whether to include salaries, as well.

Wages and salaries, along with control of farm prices, were described by these sources, who preferred to remain anonymous as the major decisions to be made before the Chief Executive delivers his Labor Day message on the cost of living.

Presidential advisers have divided the compensation question into three parts, as follows:

Wages—Primarily manual labor, especially in war factories, paid on an hourly or daily basis. Unofficial guesses are that the President will ask that wage rates in this field be stabilized, by permitting increases in the hourly or daily rates of pay only if the raise is in proportion to the rise in the cost of living. Apparently, there will be no interference with workers getting bigger pay envelopes by working more hours.

Salaries—Mostly white collar workers paid by the week, month or year, up to $10,000 a year. If included at all, some allowance probably will be made for pay raises accompanying bona fide promotions.

Three Alternatives
Big incomes—Salaries and other forms of compensation in excess of $10,000 a year. Some suggestions have been made of discouraging such large incomes by forbidding employers from taking income tax deductions as part of their operating expenses, for more than $10,000 for any one employee.

On farm prices, the President was reported to be choosing between three alternatives.
1. Let farm prices find their own levels, but use government subsidies to hold down the retail price of food.

2. Fix price ceilings on farm products, as now permitted by law at 110 per cent of parity, and use subsidies if necessary to hold down the cost of food.

3. Use war powers to nullify the 110 per cent parity provision and fix ceilings at whatever level that will keep down the cost of food without subsidies.

Another issue to be decided is whether the President will set up a "super board" to administer the cost of living program.

Mother, Stepfather Charged With Murder

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Murder charges today confronted the mother and stepfather of two-year-old Jack Creech, whose death became a subject of investigation when the parents brought his bruised body to a hospital.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Mable Drake, 20, and his stepfather, Selden Drake, 31, were held without bond after pleading innocent to first degree murder charges at a preliminary hearing and being bound to Circuit court.

Jackie's body, described by Coroner Leon F. Cobb as "a mass of welts and bruises," was brought to St. Joseph Mercy hospital at 1 a. m. yesterday by the Drakes. The coroner said a liver rupture had caused death, Jackie also had a skull fracture.

Coroner Cobb, who signed the complaint against the Drakes, said the child had been dead 10 to 12 hours when brought to the hospital and that the liver rupture was "apparently the result of a beating."

The Drakes were married in Hazel Green, Ky., last spring and Jackie was Mrs. Drake's son by a previous marriage.

The Weather

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 2, 1942
Chicago and Vicinity: Cooler late this afternoon, tonight and Thursday morning, occasional showers this afternoon and tonight; thunder showers late this afternoon and early tonight; moderate to occasionally fresh winds.

Illinois: Showers in extreme north this afternoon and central and northeast portions tonight and Thursday forenoon; cooler in northwest and extreme north this afternoon; considerably cooler north portion tonight and Thursday forenoon; continued warm extreme south portion.

LOCAL WEATHER
For the 24 hours ending at 7:00 a. m. (Central War Time) today—maximum temperature 92; minimum 69; clear.

Thursday—sun rises at 6:29 (CWT), sets at 7:29.

Freakish

Indianapolis, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Something new under the labor sun appeared to be developing in Indianapolis when an AFL Federal labor union called a strike of 200 employees of the Columbia Conserve Company late yesterday.

The company is controlled by employees who own 67 per cent of the common stock and receive a share of the profits. The workers apparently are striking against themselves because the board or directors elected by and composed of workers, refused to guarantee 52 weeks of employment, the Indianapolis Star reported.

The employees were reported to have walked out despite an offer of the management for a minimum scale of 10 cents an hour higher than requested. The plant closed and officials declined comment.

The company has been of laboratory interest to economists and labor students. For years the workers raised or cut their own salaries according to the amount of business.

The company processes preserves, pickled foods and jellies.

Rationing Board of Lee County Is Enlarged by Two

That the sweet tooth of Lee county residents has not suffered by the rationing of sugar is evidenced by the amount which has been rationed since the order went into effect the first of last May.

A report showing that approximately 208 tons have been used for rationing purposes alone, this amount not including the sugar rationed to institutional users or on ration books. Since July 1, about 142 tons of sugar has been rationed in the county.

With the estimated population of about 35,000 persons in Lee county, the rationing board today estimated that approximately 190 tons of sugar had been used since May 1 on the ration books alone, which did not include the special permits for rationing purposes, or the institutional users which included restaurants.

New Board Members

Three new additions to the Lee County War Price and Rationing Board were announced today. Willis Fry, former superintendent at the Lee County Home and Willard Jones of this city were new appointees. Charles Davis of Amboy, retired Illinois Central railroad employee, was the third appointee announced from the OPA headquarters in Chicago, but his resignation was announced at the local offices today. Davis was reported to have accepted a position at the Green River Ordnance plant. The vacancy caused by his resignation is expected to be filled within a few days.

Mrs. Avis Crawford is executive secretary for the Lee county board and two new members have been added to the clerical staff today now includes Mesdames Tina Tayman, Beulah Goddard, Lois Moore and Ethel Myers. The latter two were added to the force Tuesday, Sept. 1.

A telephone has been installed in the county offices in the city hall building which should greatly accommodate residents of the county, the number being 1770. Previous calls coming to the board have been received at the city clerk's office.

Seven Army Airmen Die in Plane Crash

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Seven Army airmen from Harding Field were killed last night when a bomber crashed in flames near Angola state prison, Louisiana, penitentiary officials said today.

Details of the accident and names of the dead were withheld at Harding Field pending an official report from officers sent to the scene after the tragedy was reported by prison officials at Angola.

Prison guards heard the two-engine craft sputtering and then saw it burst into flame in the air and plunge downward into a wooded area some four miles north of the prison.

Roosevelt to Speak to Youth of World Tomorrow

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's second broadcast this week, scheduled for all networks at 11:30 a. m. (CWT) Thursday and directed to youth of the world, will be given as complete as possible global distribution.

The president, who will be speaking before the international student assembly at Washington, is to be on the air in another all-network broadcast at 8:30 p. m. Labor day for a discussion of the cost of living.

Japanese Attempt to Allay Suspicion of Siberian Attack

Resignation of Pro-Red Foreign Minister Is Cause for Alarm

BULLETIN

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Pacific War Council, meeting today at the White House, centered special attention on the possibility of Japan's attacking Siberia and Dr. T. V. Soong, Chinese foreign minister, asserted that "to us, it is purely a matter of time until they attack."

The Japanese, he said, "are in readiness for an attack."

The council, made up of representatives of all the nations fighting in the Pacific war theater, attempted to analyze the significance of the resignation of Japan's foreign minister, Shigenori Togo.

(By The Associated Press)

Japan attempted to allay suspicion today that she might be preparing an attack on Russia's "back door" as Chinese reports said that 100,000 Japanese troops had been moved north toward Siberia in the past month and that a big Japanese fleet was massed off North Japan.

Presumably, one of the first targets of a Japanese invasion of Siberia would be an attack on the vital port of Vladivostok, 650 miles across the Sea of Japan from Tokyo.

In an apparent attempt to mask the Tokyo war cabinet's real intentions, a Domei broadcast quoted Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo as declaring that his assumption of the foreign ministry "will not result in any way in an alteration of Japan's foreign policy."

Treaty-Maker Resigns
Shigenori Togo, who negotiated the Moscow-Tokyo neutrality pact and was regarded as opposed to Japanese hostilities against Russia, resigned the foreign ministry yesterday.

Togo's resignation, coupled with the aggressive Tojo's decision to take over the foreign portfolio, had been widely interpreted outside Japan as presaging a possible Japanese attack on Siberia.

In Chungking, China's war-time capital, the influential newspaper Ta Kung Pao said that Togo had been known as a pro-Russian and that his exit showed "Japan has no more need to maintain diplo-

I-A Draftees List Nearly Exhausted

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 2.—(AP)—State selective service headquarters estimated today that present lists of I-A draftees in Illinois would be exhausted in from two to six months.

A spokesman for Paul G. Armstrong, state draft director, said that married men would not be drafted until men in I-A classifications are inducted, but added that it was impossible to state exactly when drafting of married men would begin.

"Our only advice can be that married men should be prepared to be called before long," the headquarters spokesman said. "The present lists of I-A classifications are expected to be exhausted in from two to six months and drafting of married men will then begin."

State selective service headquarters said that the "pooling system" for I-A draftees announced in Washington recently had been in effect in Illinois for several months. Under the system, local draft boards which have exhausted their lists of I-A classified men will not proceed to call up married men until all I-A men in other draft board areas have been inducted.

Errant Long Island Husbands Find Selves in Trouble With Draft Board

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Married men who make a practice of tearing open the old pay envelope before taking it home to the little woman are being given another envelope—from their selective service boards—under a scheme worked out by probation authorities of the Long Island City Magistrates court in Queens.

It is part of a system being used by Anton Ess, court probation officer, to enforce support of wives by delinquent husbands who come under his jurisdiction. When a wife reports to Ess that the pay envelope has come home too many times with part of its

Successful Raid on Saarbruecken Reported by RAF

London, Sept. 2.—(AP)—"An outstanding success" was the Air Ministry's description today of an RAF attack last night on the Nazi coal and iron center of Saarbruecken by a big bomber force operating in clear weather.

More than 200 bombers were used, but the communiqué said only three bombers were lost, the lowest percentage since the RAF undertook the mass attacks on Germany.

"The weather was good," it said, "the targets were clearly seen and the attack was an outstanding success."

This was the second aerial blow on Saarbruecken in a week. With daylight, it was followed by formidable flights of Spitfires skimming over the channel to France.

Import Area
Saarbruecken is on the French border below German-occupied Luxembourg and is the center of a highly important coal and iron

Hitler Orders Arrest of Julius Streicher

London, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A Daily Express dispatch from Stockholm said today that Julius Streicher, Nazi Germany's most outspoken anti-Semite and former governor of Franconia, had been arrested by the Gestapo on Hitler's orders.

The dispatch said the arrest was made several weeks ago, after a long personal investigation by Hitler, on accusations that Streicher had embezzled party money and had been "involved in the most unsavory affairs."

'Common Service' Stores to Post Price Ceilings

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dry cleaners, shoe repairers, and auto repair establishments from now on must keep in their places of business a statement of ceiling prices, the Office of Price Administration has ruled.

Every establishment providing the "common services" must keep such a statement available for public inspection, OPA said, so that customers may check the listed maximum prices against those actually charged.

Derogatory

Cairo, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Egypt's professional "weepers," who hire out for native funerals, must turn their talents elsewhere.

The minister of social affairs decided today to ban the practice as "derogatory to Egypt's reputation as a modern country."

Helping Bar Path of Rommel's Soldiers Toward Alexandria

Armies Locked Heavily in Battle; Russian Outlook Serious

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

U. S. Army tanks fighting along side the British helped bar the path of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's new three-day offensive in western Egypt today while American fliers shuttled through one of the worst dust storms of the war to blast Axis supply depots and break up German dive-bomber formations over the desert battlefield.

A bulletin from British G. H. Q. said British forces were locked heavily in battle with Axis armored columns all day yesterday in the southern sector of the narrow front.

U. S. Army planes engaged in extensive operations over the entire area, the communiqué said.

A censored dispatch from Edward Kennedy, Associated Press correspondent at the battlefield, said American tanks in "greater number than ever before" were supporting Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's British Imperial armies.

"In the southern sector on Sept. 1, our forces including armor and artillery fought throughout the day with the enemy's armored forces in the area between El Himeimat and the Ruweisat ridge," the British command said.

British Make Sally
On the northern flank, British forces made their own sally on Monday night and in "a successful raid" captured a batch of German prisoners.

Despite swirling sandstorms, the communiqué said, allied planes attacked the enemy on a large scale, breaking up at least two big Stuka formations and pounding enemy transport on the coastal road between Gambut and Sidi Barrani.

The Italian high command asserted that 51 allied planes had been shot down in two days of aerial fighting and that four others crashed after hits by Italian anti-aircraft fire.

Front-line dispatches said Rommel's armored spearheads had split into two columns after advancing eight miles through British mine fields at the southern end of the 35-mile corridor between El Alamein, on the Mediterranean coast, and the desolate Qattara Depression.

The main Nazi tank column turned north, it was reported, while a smaller column branched off to the south.

Latest advices said General Alexander was holding back his main tank force, presumably to guard positional advantages, while armored vanguards of the 600-tank axis army warily probed for a "soft spot" which might open a road to the Nile.

On Russian Front

On the Russian front, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies drove the Germans into retreat northwest of Stalingrad, wiping out a deep Nazi wedge, but fell back in the southwest as the invaders pressed a grave new threat to the Volga steel city.

30-Year Sentence to Convicted Spy

Newark, N. J., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Herbert K. F. Bahr, convicted of conspiracy to serve Germany as a spy, was given a 30-year prison sentence today.

The sentence was the maximum prison term possible under the espionage statutes, but the court could have ordered his execution. Judge William F. Smith, who imposed sentence in federal district court, expressed the belief Bahr still was protecting Nazi colleagues.

"From my experience," the court told him, "I believe you have not turned over to the government all the information you have. I believe you have other names and addresses."

At no time did Bahr look at Judge Smith. He kept his eyes on the table before him.

A native of Germany, Bahr obtained United States citizenship through his father's naturalization. After a brilliant career at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y., he went to Germany as an exchange student in 1939.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation charged that Bahr dropped his academic studies in Germany to enter the Gestapo's famed espionage and sabotage school for training as a spy. He was intercepted June 30 on the exchange liner Drottningholm when he arrived back in this country posing as a refugee from Germany.

Old Plow Will Be Scrapped

J. W. Cortright, supervisor of South Dixon township, has an interesting relic which is to be delivered in the present metal salvage drive and eventually converted into war equipment. The relic is one of the original plows built at the Grand Detour plow shop in Grand Detour and was purchased by Supervisor Cortright's father.
The plow shown above with Mr. Cortright, has been in use for about 85 years and after this long service has been cast aside as useless and with other scrap metals collected on the Cortright farm south of Dixon, is to become a part of the salvage collection and converted into necessary and essential war equipment.

Marine Writes of Brush With Sub in Solomon Islands

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—

The following account of a brush with an enemy submarine in the Solomon Islands was written by Second Lieutenant H. L. Merillat, 27, of Washington, D. C., a Marine Corps public relations officer with the forces holding the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area of the Solomons.

Guadalcanal, Aug. 15.—(Delayed)—News gathering hereabouts is no city hall beat. The success of the Navy Marine Corps operations has given us six islands to cover. That means open water and small boats, which in this area add up to a game of hide and seek with Jap subs.

Tulagi, where the fighting was particularly heavy, is 20 miles away across open water. News from there was scarce until three days ago, when three boats made the crossing. We got up at dawn to go along.

We were late in getting underway and it looked as though we would be out in the middle of the straits about the time the Jap bombers made their daily visit.

We shoved off on a calm sea with bright skies, ideal visibility for aircraft and subs. We chugged along without incident until we sighted a plane approaching low from the east. We grabbed our weapons and our gunner turned his machine gun on the plane. It was a false alarm, however, for the plane turned out to be one of our PB's.

Sighted Submarine

Later we sighted something in the water almost dead ahead, slightly to port, lying off the coast of Florida Island. The officer in charge of our boat called me to take a look: "Is that a sub, Merillat?" I could make out something on the water, about 5,000 yards off.

Our three boats did a sharp turn to starboard, running parallel to Florida. By this time I could make out a sub all too plainly and she was overtaking us fast. Two shells burst a few hundred yards from us.

Then, of all times, our engine started to burn out. Clouds of steam poured from the engine housing. She clanked and groaned and hissed as if she would explode any moment, and the sub was racing toward us, trying to head us off.

Batteries from Tulagi were firing on the sub by this time, I thought I saw two hits on her, but she kept on coming.

We decided to abandon our tub and frantically signalled the landing boat to pull alongside. We threw in our gear and then ourselves.

We raced on eastward, watching the exchange between the sub and shore battery. Finally the sub disappeared. We shouted with relief.

Lee County Rent Director Issues First Statement

Landlords and tenants in the Dixon defense rental area were advised today to regard the rent control office in Dixon as the "bar of justice" in any differences that may arise over the rent that should be charged for a dwelling unit.

Fremont M. Kaufman, area rent director, gave this advice today in discussing the maximum rent regulation which yesterday cut back the rents on dwelling units in this area to the rate prevailing on March 1 last. The regulation affects all houses, apartments or other housing accommodations in Lee county.

"We want both landlords and tenants to know that the rent director's office is here to serve both parties," said Director Kaufman. "My first advice to tenants is to pay no more rent for the house or apartment in which they are living than they paid on March 1 last. This is in accordance with the regulation issued by Price Administrator Henderson as a means of controlling the cost of living in defense areas during the war emergency."

"Landlords are not to ask for increased rents unless they have made major capital improvements in their properties since March 1. This does not mean normal maintenance, such as decorating or repairs to maintain the quarters in the same manner as prior to March 1. And, too, any increases in rent must have the approval of the rent director's office. The landlord must file a petition for an increase, the tenant will be advised and a hearing will be held in the tenant's presence."

Can't Be Evicted

The rent director also advised tenants that they cannot be evicted for refusal to pay a rent higher than the legal rate. The landlord wishing to evict a tenant, must notify the area rent office in all cases except where the tenant does not pay the legal rent. Any joked and laughed on the let up of tension. At noon we arrived at Tulagi, feeling very lucky.

THE STORY OF BREAD

may well be called The Story of Civilization

Bread, the most venerable of prepared foods, has helped man, and man in turn has bettered the quality of his staff of life.

YEAST is the life of bread . . . and the story of yeast is the story of scientific research, uniform quality, mammoth production, modern refrigeration . . . and daily delivery to bakers in every city, town and village throughout the land . . . even by boat, by sled and by plane when other transportation is interrupted by floods and blizzards.

Anheuser-Busch is one of America's biggest sources of baker's yeast.

Year after year, we have striven with research and resources to better the methods and facilities for brewing Budweiser. To do this, a laboratory specializing in fermentation and nutrition was necessary. Discoveries made in the laboratory and in the plant have led to the development of products contributing to human necessity and progress. Some of these products would appear to have only a remote relationship to brewing, yet, they are the result of scientific research into many allied fields.

Endless research in making the world's leading beer

A Thought for Today

Judge not according to the appearance.—John 7:24.

Things are seldom what they seem, skim milk masquerades as cream.—W. S. Gilbert.

Un-American Way

Perhaps what happened to Don Mario, the singing band leader, up in Providence, R. I., is nothing to get steamed up about.

It may be right to say that this was just the arbitrary action of an ignorant labor union executive board, and is not symptomatic of anything general or important.

But when a bandmaster can be fined $500 for joining Fourth of July gatherings in singing "The Star Spangled Banner," while his country is fighting the most desperate war in all its history, perhaps it really is something worth fretting about.

The issue is clearcut. The Providence Citizens Sunday Recreation Committee sponsored three park entertainments on July 5, and paid union rates for professional bands to provide the music.

Mario, whose orchestra was playing at a night club, offered to give its services—as an added feature, not to displace the paid union musicians. The Providence local of the American Federation of Musicians refused permission, and suggested that Mario himself should sneak out of town for the day rather than to go to any of the affairs.

Instead, Mario accepted membership in the official party which consisted of the mayor, the actress Sylvia Sidney and four others.

When the paid union band played "The Star Spangled Banner," everybody began singing. Mario, standing between the mayor and Miss Sidney, joined in.

On Aug. 10 he was notified "fraternally" of the $500 fine by the executive board, which held that by singing the national anthem he had made a personal appearance forbidden by his union.

Mario was ordered to pay the fine by Sept. 5. Otherwise he can be suspended from union membership and deprived of the means of livelihood.

He can, of course, appeal. The international union is headed by James Caesar Petrillo, who has forbidden the making of musical records or transcriptions; who is facing federal anti-trust action; and whose New York local forbade the soldier band of "This Is the Army" to play at the opening of a service men's social center.

In our old-fashioned, horse-and-buggy, ruggedly individualistic way we resent the situation in which a private organization can fine any man $500 for singing the national anthem in public or private, free or for pay, in wartime or in peace.

We think it is un-American.

SILENT RIDE

CHAPTER XI

IT was 11 when Enid awoke the next morning. She made a wry face at the bedside clock and wondered how she would ever manage to get up at 7 when she had to go back to work.

But she didn't have to worry about that, yet. The air of the apartment was heavy with heat, and she lay listless until hunger forced her up to eat.

Then she dressed, gathered together her sketching materials, and headed for the Bath Club. There was no difficulty about her getting in; Hank had arranged for that the night before.

The locker woman gave her a check and assigned her to a dressing booth. Enid changed into her bathing suit, put her clothes in the locker and went out to the pool.

She put her sketch book and crayon box down in a chair and walked over to the edge of the pool. She lifted her arms and jumped in, holding her breath, as Hank had taught her to do the night before. But it wasn't fun like it had been last night with him. After a couple of jumps she gave it up.

She dried herself and moved out of the sun and began to sketch a swimmer in the water. But her attention was soon distracted by a red-headed girl in a white bathing suit, who had just joined the group under the near-by umbrella. Enid couldn't help staring at her. For the first time she realized what the phrase, "perfect beauty," might mean.

Enid had never seen anyone as beautiful as this girl. Wide-spaced eyes of an incredible blue, hair the color of a new penny, worn page-boy style with the ends curled under against her white shoulders, a piquant profile with a tip-titled nose, and skin that was unbelievable. Not the pink and white complexion of most red-heads, but waxy and creamy as the petals of a gardenia.

The red-headed girl stopped abruptly in something she was saying, got up with quick insolent grace, and moved over the grass toward Enid.

Enid smiled nervously up at her. "I hope you don't mind."

"Let me see it," the other girl demanded.

She studied the sketch arrogantly and a frown creased the white smoothness of her forehead. "My nose—can't turn up that much," she said coldly.

The girl called Clare, stared at Enid, the lovely blue eyes like ice. Her manner said plainly, "Who are you to have an opinion of my nose?" Contemptuously she dropped the sketch, and without a word turned on her heel and went back to her friends under the sun shade.

FLUSHING, Enid bent over and retrieved the sketch, but she didn't finish it. The enthusiasm needed for satisfactory work was gone. She packed her tools away and went and dressed. She wouldn't go back to the pool, she thought. That is, not unless Hank took her.

Her hurt turned to anger as she walked home. She had a strong impulse to tear the sketch up and throw it away. But when she took it out and looked at it something in the face challenged the artist in her. She found herself enchanted anew by the clear-cut contours of the face and the insolent poise of the head.

She wondered if she could finish it from memory. She sat down at her easel and began to work. So absorbed was she in her effort, that she jumped nervously when the door bell rang. Impatiently she went to answer it.

Hank Holliday grinned at her. "Hello. Busy tonight? I've been called to a little country town for consultations. It's a nice ride. I thought maybe you'd like to go along."

Enid's spirits rose like a thermometer in the sun. "Of course," she said.

Hank had caught sight of the sketch on the easel. He walked toward it curiously. "When did you do this?" he demanded in a surprised tone.

"Today. At the pool. Do you know her, they called her Clare?"

"Know her?" He laughed shortly. "It's Clare Adams. Mother's picked her for my second wife."

In the silence that followed Hank Holliday's casual announcement Enid's world crashed around her. She was surprised that Hank couldn't hear the pieces falling.

"She's very beautiful," "Clare's beautiful all right," he conceded carelessly. He glanced at his watch. "Can you be ready in about 20 minutes?"

"So that's why he said he shouldn't have kissed me," Enid thought drearily as she dressed.

They didn't talk much on the way. Traffic was heavy and the Doctor concentrated on his driving. Only once he turned to her. "What's the matter—you're so quiet?"

"She smiled thinly. 'It's the heat, I guess.'"

Ruml Tax Plan

Apparently congress is giving some consideration to the revolutionary income tax plan suggested by Beardsley Ruml, treasurer of a large New York department store, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and adviser to the National Resources Planning Board.

In that event, the 27 millions who will pay an income tax next year should get busy and let congress know what they think of the idea.

What do they think of it? We don't know. But we believe that the more the public considers the plan, the stronger will be the pressure on congress to accept Mr. Ruml's suggestion.

What this experienced financier proposes, in brief, is that the Treasury discard the fiction that taxes paid in any one year are on the earnings of the previous year.

In a hypothetical case, here is how it would work:

Mr. John Q. Public in 1942 will earn a total of $3,500. Under the present system, next March 15 he must try to pay an income tax on that salary. But next year he will be in the Army, drawing $50 a month or a total of $600.

Unless he is one of a small minority, he has not saved this year the money with which to pay the tax next March. He intended to pay it out of 1943 earnings. Obviously he will not be able to do that.

So Mr. Ruml proposes that the tax paid by Mr. Public next March be considered as on his 1943 income. He will have to pay a tax measured by the $3,500 he earned this year. But, knowing that he will be in line for a refund at the end of the year, at worst he can borrow the necessary sum.

On the other hand, consider Mr. J. P. Rich, whose company is doing a big war business and, unlike most such, is increasing its profit. Mr. Rich this year will make only $35,000. Next March 15 he will pay a tax on that amount. The next year, 1943, he is going to make $50,000. If Mr. Ruml's plan is adopted, Rich won't escape with the tax on $35,000 in a year in which he made $50,000.

When Rich pays on March 15, 1944, he will work over the amount established by the $50,000 he made in 1943, plus a tax on the extra $15,000 on which he did not pay in 1943.

In other words, the tax each year would be measured tentatively by the past year's earnings.

If with this is combined a withholding tax after next Jan. 1, then nobody in the working class brackets would have to worry about where to find the money to pay his income tax. Most of it already would have been paid out of earnings.

Holding Our Own

War news the last few days has been encouraging. Opponents have slapped the United Nations all over the map from the Caucasus to Libya, and from Libya to the far Pacific, for many a month. Always we have read of new territorial acquisitions by the axis—but there have been precious few victories for the United Nations except where American naval and air forces have met up with the Japs.

Now, however, the American and Australian troops have taken the Japs for a cleaning in the Milne bay area and the Solomons. Russian troops have not only stemmed the nazi rush toward Stalingrad and eastward generally, but have driven them back in some areas.

In other words, the thing started out with the axis winning the rounds. Today's news shows the rounds are being taken by the United Nations—perhaps by a small margin, but nevertheless they are being taken.

It's encouraging and the portents are bright.

News BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington, Sept. 1.—It is astonishing that the Japs, with all their artillery and planes, chose to withdraw from Chuhsein, the largest air field in China—the one we can now use to bomb Tokio. The Chinese naturally claim a victory at that point, but their announcements make it clear to the practised eye that the Japs failed to confront them with formidable forces, and Tokyo claims the retreat was a planned withdrawal.

What then makes this field—so desirable to the Japs last May that they started a new China campaign—now not worth fighting for? Only one explanation seems plausible.

The Japs must believe we will shortly get airfields which are even closer to Japan. They must be intending to attack Russia, and open a new theater of operations for themselves and for us. They must be withdrawing from China to strengthen their forces on the Russian border.

Their only successful general, Yamashita, is supposed to be in Manchuria now, looking over the ground. While it may seem to be a little late in the year for major operations so far north, the Jap invasion of Manchukuo was started in the same season (Sept. 18, 1931) and fighting continued through much of the winter.

All signs add up to the conclusion that the Japs must try a big new major blow somewhere—if they have a blow left in them.

The toes of their advance in the South Seas have been crushed.

In New Guinea, General MacArthur worked a tickler trick on them. Several weeks ago, when all the newsmen around his headquarters were moaning in anguish, because he had not been furnished with power to do anything, MacArthur was even then building hospitals and bases to support the attack, which his secreted Australian troops delivered with devastating surprise upon Milne Bay, as soon as the Japs occupied it last week.

Tokyo tee-heed in triumph at MacArthur's professed anguish, but his purpose became painfully plain to them when the Aussies came out of hiding and annihilated their Milne forces. It was the first engagement of the Australian troops under MacArthur, and they convinced authorities around here that they have the same thing our men have—the will to win.

Anyone who knows MacArthur's style could tell that he was the personal author of that long official communique issued Sunday night, giving a full account of the Solomon island fray. He might as well have signed it, so clearly did it betray his characteristic terseness, pugnaciousness and clarity (a distinct contrast with naval communiques previously issued on the same subject).

MacArthur made it plain the big toe of the Jap advance had been cut off in the Solomons. Every cloud has now been chased away from that engagement, except the extent of our naval losses.

The first engagement (August 7 to 10) previously has been described in this column. In the second fight (August 23) the Japs mustered every available vessel they had in that part of the world. Some came from Rabaul, others from nearby bases.

Roosevelt once idly called the resultant attack only a "reconnaissance" in force, but the Navy department announced the Japs had transports with them, and no one goes reconnoitering with troops. In fact, MacArthur disclosed a force of 900 was landed on Guadalcanal island, and all of it met death or capture.

This was clearly an effort by the Japs to recapture the southern Solomons, and it failed, because our bombers knocked out their only supply line. The Japs could not proceed without airpower, had to withdraw, leaving us in undisputed control.

Any Pacific map will show you our lines of supply to Australia have been cleared by this Solomons success. Other Jap airbases are to far back from the steamship routes to do much damage.

Counted with the Jap loss of Milne Bay, the Solomons success also makes impossible the invasion of Australia on the populous eastern side. The Japs will have to get New Guinea, or the Solomons, or both, for bases, before invasion can be attempted hereafter through the Coral Sea.

Guiding principle of the Japanese is face-saving. Even the Tokyo broadcasters can see that some of it is required by the toe-crunching they have received.

Authorities, who have the South Seas area particularly in mind, suspect the Japs will try to muster a larger naval invasion force, and go back into the Solomons and New Guinea. Their second Solomons attack, however, showed they have little naval strength available in that quarter.

They are particularly short on aircraft carriers, since we blasted most of this Jap category out of the water at Midway. They cannot invade without carriers, and when they come back next time they will meet our land-based bombing planes from that excellent field on Guadalcanal.

Other points at which they could strike are Alaska and India, but Alaska is foggy and not good fighting territory, while India already is being prepared, by fifth columnist and disobedience activities, to fall into the Jap lap without a costly major campaign.

Consequently most eyes here are trained on the Manchurian-Russian border.

Army War Show Is Now Under Way; To Last Eleven Days

Big Benefit Opens This Morning at Soldier Field at Chicago

Chicago's Lake front area assumed all of the noisy and grim characteristics of a battlefield today, as the Army War Show officially opened its eleven-day run at Soldier Field. This morning the mammoth Battle Depot, the Army War Show's exhibit area, opened at 10 a. m. in the area just east of the field. And tonight at 8:30 p. m., the performance of "Here's Your Army," will go on with 2,000 men realistically showing Chicago an Army in action.

The Battle Depot is being opened ahead of schedule to accommodate the great throng that is expected to visit the area. Previously scheduled to open at 2 p. m., the gates will now open each day at 10 a. m. so that more Chicagoans can see the exhibits at earlier hours when the crowds will be smaller.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly will officially open the Battle Depot when he cuts the ribbon at the gate. Present at the official ceremonies will be Col. Wilson T. Bals, Commanding Officer of the Army War Show Task Force; Major Charles S. Hart, War Department Representative of the Army War Show; Major E. W. Rideout, in charge of the Battle Depot, and the members of the Executive Committee of the Chicago Army War Show Committee, Col. V. F. Shaw, Executive Officer to Gen. Alexander Surles, and Lt. Col. Curtis Mitchell will attend.

Tonight's program within Soldier Field actually gets under way at 8 p. m. when the 71-piece Army Air Force Band from Bolling Field presents a half-hour concert. Then at 8:30, with the War Show's Air Force zooming and diving their planes over the vast arena, Chicago will see for the first time a true sample of this Nation's fighting men in battle action. For 100 minutes, one unit after another, each branch of the Army will present its wares to the people who provided them, until Chicago has seen what our Army is and can do today. And finally, the men of the Task Force which numbers 2,000 will drive up the field, guns blazing, to show the public what an angry America looks like on the offensive.

Chicago Mayor Honored

Mayor Kelly and the members of the Chicago committee will likewise officiate at tonight's opening of "Here's Your Army." Yesterday the mayor and the committee were honored by the Bolling Field Air Force Band with a noon-day concert at the LaSalle street entrance to city hall.

The Battle Depot brings together the tools, weapons, and equipment used by every branch of the Army. In giant tents that give it a circus sideshow aspect from the outside, soldiers from every part of the nation stand ready to show the people what our Army is fighting with today. There is every type of uniform; rifles, big guns, and vehicles of all descriptions. These are in the Battle Depot for Chicagoans to see, feel, and examine. A gas chamber will provide many with their first experience with gas mask—and tear gas. It is the Army's means of showing American labor and industry the great job that has been done to build for us the finest Army in the world that the battle may be won quickly and decisively. And it serves to give Americans a new confidence in our own strength.

All proceeds from the Army War Show go to the Army Emergency Relief, the organization which aids financially distressed soldiers and their families. In addition to being one of the greatest entertainment spectacles of all time, the Army War Show brings to Chicago an education and an inspiration—and through acquiring all of this at Soldier Field, Chicagoans will be helping Army Emergency Relief to carry on with its slogan of "Take a Load Off His Heart."

Officers of the Chicago Executive Committee for the Army War Show are: the Honorable Dwight H. Green, governor of Illinois; Major General George Gruent, Commanding General of the Sixth Service Command; and Rear Admiral John T. Downes, Commandant of the Ninth Naval District. Honorary Chairman: Mayor Edward J. Kelly, General Chairman: Major Ednyed H. Williams, Vice-Chairman, and Philip S. English, Liaison representative.

Ruth Crombie, Ordnance Plant Worker, Becomes First WAVE from Dixon

"When I took the oath last night, I was so thrilled I cried—and today, I can't believe it's true"—that's how Miss Ruth Crombie describes her feelings about becoming Dixon's first United States Navy sailorette. She has been accepted for training at the first feminine Annapolis, (the United States naval training school being set up on Smith college campus) having been sworn in as an Apprentice Seaman at 6 p. m. yesterday in Chicago, after writing examinations which had begun at 11 a. m. in the Board of Trade building.

Miss Crombie, 23-year-old daughter of Mrs. Charles Crombie of rural route 2, was one of 11 of 35 or 36 candidates who successfully passed the examinations. The Dixon girl was sworn in by Lieut. Mary Daley, first woman officer in the Ninth Naval district, who was formerly personnel director for a large life insurance company with 1,000 employees under her direction.

MRS. ELWIN WADSWORTH IS LEADING MISS HERMAN IN PLUM HOLLOW GOLF FINALS

Play in the August championship tournament for linkswomen of the Plum Hollow Golf and Country club has advanced to the finals, with Mrs. Elwin Wadsworth scheduled to meet Miss Kathryn Herman today for the second bout of their 36-hole contest for the title. Mrs. Wadsworth was leading Miss Herman, five up, at the end of their first 18 holes.

Miss Herman defeated Mrs. P. J. Malay in the semi-finals. In B-flight, Mrs. Wallace Hicks, Jr., eliminated Miss Virginia Klein and is to oppose Mrs. Larry Poole for the flight championship. Mrs. Charles Cramer defaulted to Mrs. Charles Sworn. Remaining tournament matches are to be played off by Saturday.

Ten players turned out for yesterday's weekly links event. Mrs. E. B. Ryan and Mrs. Frank Hoyle won blind bogey honors, and Mrs. Elwin Wadsworth had low putts.

Plans for Stagette Day, climaxing event of the season for the women golfers, have not yet been completed. Awarding of trophies and prizes for the season's achievements on the fairways and greens are a highlight of the yearly affair.

YEARBOOK

The 1942-43 yearbook for the Dixon Woman's club is being compiled, and will be ready for the press, soon. All changes in address or telephone numbers should be reported immediately to Mrs. R. H. Hartridge, financial secretary, at Phone No. X1364.

Nachusa P-T. A. Plans Flower Show

Women of the Nachusa Parent-Teacher association are busily occupied with final plans for their annual flower show, a community-wide event that is to take place Friday evening at the school. All entries are to be registered by 5 p. m. Friday at the school; and classification lists may be obtained from members of the committee.

A reception for new members will be another feature of this first meeting of the school year. The program topic, "Time Modern School—a Normal Service for Tomorrow's Citizens", will be discussed from the standpoint of a parent, a teacher, and a pupil.

The committee in charge of arrangements for Friday evening's show includes Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. George Stiles, and Mrs. M. F. Gonnerman.

Willkie Arrives in Egypt via Airplane

Cairo, Sept. 2—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, enroute to Russia, India and China, among other places arrived here by plane today.

The Republican presidential candidate of 1940 will visit Russia, China, Turkey, Arabia, Palestine, Syria, Iraq and Iran. His trip to China will take him through India.

Willkie's tour was undertaken to perform "certain services for the government" at the request of President Roosevelt. He carries letters from the president to Premier Stalin of Russia as well as to various Americans and officials in the countries he will visit.

Roosevelt said the Willkie mission was to tell those countries the truth of the American war effort and the unity behind it.

Willkie is expected to return not later than mid-October to participate in the election campaigns.

Walton News

BY ANNA J. McCOY

BY ANNA J. McCOY

There will be a high mass at 7 a. m. Friday morning in Saint Mary's church, Walton for all the young men of the parish who are in the armed forces of the United States.

Beg Your Pardon

In last week's Walton news items there was an error in the names of the Sisters who conducted the religious vacation school. The names of the Sisters were Sister Elizabeth Marie and Sister Agnes James of the Sisters of Saint Joseph from Saint Louis. The last named was Sister Agnes Rita. The correspondent deeply regrets the error.

Honored at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Blackburn entertained 26 guests at dinner last Sunday for their son Edward who was inducted into the service of the United States. A chicken dinner was served at noon and the afternoon was spent visiting and a gift was presented to the honoree.

Entertained at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. George Jacobs entertained with supper Wednesday evening the following guests, Mrs. Jacobs' aunt, Mrs. Jennie Brown of Sacramento, Cal.; her grandmother, Mrs. Florence Russell of Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Russell and son of Dixon; Mrs. Jacob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hicks and sons, Raymond, Ross and Roland, all of Harmon; Mrs. Jacobs' brother, Russell Hicks of Dixon, brought his moving picture camera and showed three reels of moving pictures.

Birthday Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Friel and daughter, Judy Anne were dinner guests Sunday in Amboy at the Clarence Micheal home where Mr. and Mrs. Michaels entertained with a chicken dinner for Mrs. Margaret Healy in honor of her birthday. The afternoon was spent socially and Mrs. Healy received some lovely gifts. All departed for their homes wishing Mrs. Healy many more happy birthdays.

Entertained for Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Morrissey entertained at dinner last Tuesday for Mr. and Mrs. James Morrissey and daughter Georgia Marie of Newton, Iowa, besides the honorees. The following were present: Mrs. Lena Morrissey and daughter Catherine, P. H. Morrissey of Amboy; Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey and daughter returned to their home in Iowa Thursday after a visit with relatives in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. James Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. James Bradley, all of Sterling and Theodore Hill of Wisconsin were callers Sunday at the home of Mrs. Anna Blackburn and son Leo.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McCoy and family were among those who attended the dinner in Maytown Sunday.

Mrs. P. H. Dunphy and son Larry Joe Dunphy and Anna J. McCoy were Amboy callers Monday evening.

Miss Sarah and Mary McGimes of Polo and Mrs. Minnie Durr of Dixon were callers Thursday at the home of Mrs. Anna Blackburn and son Leo.

Confessions Thursday afternoon and evening in preparation for the First Friday. Holy hour 7:30 to 8:30 Holy Communion on the First Friday at 6-6:30.

Poets' Corner

MY LITTLE GIRL

If you have ever seen grey eyes That sparkle and shine like the Summer skies in June My little girl.

A smile upon a rosybud mouth Two dimples in rosy cheeks Two arms around her mother's neck Her little soul speaks My little girl.

Home work studies every nite Those history dates to remember right Spelling and geography And now a new song of liberty My little girl.

And then its bed time And she lays her books away, And comes to mother's side With all the happenings of the day And last she says "Well, good nite mom!"

I guess I'll go to sleep A great big hug and a tender kiss Her little soul I'll watch and keep My little girl.

Mrs. Myrtle Hoyle.

The noise of war is everywhere A silly thought but true And now and then we think Of mom and sweetheart too, Of course that makes us glad And then we think of someone else

A guy we call our dad If he could march along with us How proud of him we'd be. There isn't any better man in war torn history

He never wore any shoulder brass Nor stripes on his olive drab. But generals with stars to spare Don't rate as high as dad. For me he'd conquer anything He's always on the go. And though he's always smilin' through

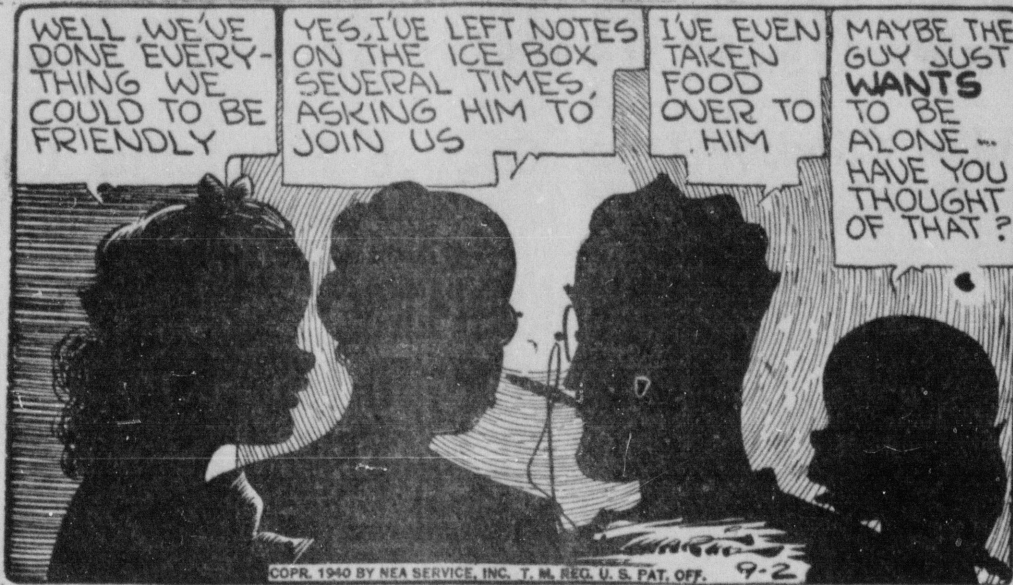

He misses me I know. And when this war is ended We'll all be more than glad To see the greatest "guy" there is A guy we just call dad.

From Sgt. Harold Higby Hq. Co. 132 Inf. Force 6834-B A P O No. 502 San Francisco, Calif.

Balance in State's Treasury at Peak; Over 47 Millions

Finance Director Warns Against Spending It; He Fears "Raids"

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 1.—(AP)
—As the state treasury's general fund balance soared to a new record-high mark of over $47,000,000,
Finance Director George B. Mc-
Kibbin declared his belief today the fund should be held intact as a reserve against post-war deflation.
McKibbin indicated in an interview that the administration would oppose any extraordinary appropriation requests in the regular session of the legislature convening in January. He declined direct comment, however, on the Illinois Municipal League's recent proposal that the general assembly vote a $20,000,000 biennial outlay for cities' civilian defense programs.
"We're going to have a tough job on our hands with that money in the treasury," he conceded.
"There will be a lot of ideas on how it can be spent."
"Sound economics dictates that the treasury balance not be dissipated—that we invest the money in war bonds as a cushion against post-war inflation, and to offset the likely drop in sales tax revenue in the next two years."

Prosperity Can't Last

The state's financial outlook will depend greatly upon the outcome of the statewide referendum Nov.
3 on the proposal to amend the state constitution so as to permit the general assembly to remove the two per cent sales tax from foods, the finance director explained.

He pictured the state government as enjoying now a period of unusual financial prosperity which cannot last indefinitely.

"We are up against two propositions," McKibbin said. "If the sales-tax-off-foods proposition carries in the referendum, we stand to lose something between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 a year in sales tax revenue."

"If the proposition is defeated by the voters, we still face the prospect that sales tax revenues will fall off substantially, possibly as much as $20,000,000 in the next two years, due to the slump in durable goods sales because there won't be any to sell.

"If both of these things happen,
we are certainly going to need this reserve."

The treasury's general fund balance on Aug. 31 was $47,321,- 070.78, a gain of about $2,000,000 over the July 31 balance.
One possibility under consideration, McKibbin added, is use of the reserve to retire part of the state's $156,423,000 bonded indebtedness. The bonds are not recall-able, however, and would have to be purchased at a substantial premium since most of the bonds carry interest rates of four per cent.

Course of Safety Engineering Will Be Offered Here

Free Instruction, Part of W Training Program, Provided

Through industrial accidents caused by carelessness, unintentional sabotage has cost America far more in dead and wounded than all the activities of axis agents. Plant protection, with guards and passes, fences and floodlights, can keep unintentional saboteurs out of the shop, but the terrible toll of workers killed and injured by accidents will be reduced only by extending protection until unsafe conditions and unsafe acts are eliminated.

Every war industry should have men trained in accident prevention. This training is being made available in Dixon and vicinity as part of a nationwide program in industrial safety engineering, sponsored by the United States Office of Education, through the University of Illinois and in cooperation with the national committee for the Conservation of Man Power in War Industries.

Starting about September 21 and continuing for sixteen weeks, the course will consist of two evening sessions each week. A systematic survey of industrial accident prevention is given, with practical instruction which can be applied in every plant.

Course Is Open

The course is open to any responsible industrial employee. Responsible industrial experience and leadership characteristics are desired. At least one man from every industry should enroll.

No tuition fee is charged. Each student must, however, supply his text material. Neither the student nor his company will be under any obligation, except to reduce accidents.

Classes will be held in the Dixon high school, the schedule of nights to be announced later in this paper. Registration will be on the nights of Sept. 8, 9 and 10 from 7 to 9, at the high school. The east door will be open for this purpose and a room near the east end of the building will be plainly marked at the place of registration. Further information may be obtained from A. H. Fenger, E. S. M. W. T. Administrator, 1004 North Dixon avenue, Dixon, or by calling X-1141 after 6 p. m.

Two Chillicothe Boys Admit Series of Fires

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The mystery which cloaked origins of half a dozen fires in the downtown section of Chillicothe, ten miles north of here, was solved with the arrest of two boys, 13 and 14 years old, Deputy State Fire Marshal Walter Parlier said last night.

Parlier said that the boys, turned over to juvenile authorities, admitted they had started fires in sheds, one belonging to Night Marshal Henry Cleveland. He said the pair confessed planning to set fire to the roof of a local theater while it was filled with patrons.

Root Vegetables Are Popular for Low Cost Meals

Root vegetables, plentiful in the state's victory gardens this year, not only are good substantial food but also make it possible to plan healthful meals well within the limits of the family food budget, according to Miss Frances Cook, food specialist of the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Root vegetables such as potatoes, carrots, beets and parsnips are all rich in vitamins, minerals, starches and sugar. Furthermore they furnish quantity at low cost. Root vegetables have the further added advantage that they combine readily with many other foods, including left-over meat, fish, and grated cheese.

Turnips O'Brien

Cook turnips until tender. Chop and season with salt and pepper. Add chopped green or sweet red pepper. Melt two tablespoons of fat in frying pan and spread a thin even layer of the turnips in the pan. Heat over a low flame and serve hot.

Carrot Scallop

Beat one egg slightly. Add one cup of milk, three cups of raw carrots cut fine, one tablespoon of melted fat, salt and pepper to taste. Pour into a greased baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven until set.

Fried Carrots and Apples

Wash and scrape medium-sized carrots and cut lengthwise into thin slices. Slice apples in rings with the skins on. Place the carrots in a frying pan with a little melted fat or bacon drippings, cook tightly and cook until almost tender. Add the apples, sprinkle with salt and sugar and brown well.

Beet Soup

This is a quick way to make a dish very similar to the Russian borsch but using leftovers. Chop cooked beets very fine and add to beef broth along with chopped cooked onion, carrot or cabbage. Season with dried or fresh herbs and serve very hot. Serve it with a dash of sour cream.

Scalloped Onions and Peanuts

Measure three cups of cooked onions, one cup of ground roasted peanuts, one cup of thin white sauce, one cup of bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until the crumbs are golden brown.

Nelson

Mrs. Alvin Bartholomew visited at the G. W. Bartholomew home in Nelson Sunday. She has just returned from a six weeks trip to San Francisco, Calif., where her husband is stationed. He has passed all of his examinations as mechanic in aviation and expects to be transferred soon to active duty.

George W. Palmer is visiting this week in Belvidere.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palmer and son Bradley returned to their home at Madison, Wis., on Tuesday, after spending their 10 days vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Palmer.

M. C. Stitzel is not feeling so well and is confined to his bed in an effort to regain his strength. The following motored to Chicago Saturday afternoon returning Sunday evening: Mrs. Phil Bonardi, Lawrence Coppotelli, Miss Schmidt and Mr. and Mrs. William Weber. They were entertained Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bazzarri. Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Eastabrook and son Donald returned to their homes at South Pekin Monday afternoon after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Stitzel.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle D. Stitzel attended the funeral of Henry Bowen in Sterling Tuesday afternoon.

School began here on Monday. Mrs. Beattie Gale and Miss Lucile Moats retained their teaching assignments for another season.

IT IS AN OBLIGATION OF EACH AND EVERYONE

Someone You Know Writes About the USO

August 24, 1942

Dear Mayor Slothower:

I received your most welcome letter today and will be only too glad to give you my opinion of the USO.

We do not have a USO here in Orlando but do have a Service Club which, I understand, is operated somewhat on the same order and for the same purpose, that of providing recreation for the soldiers during their off hours.

The only fault I can find with the USO is that they don't have more of their clubs for the boys. This will, no doubt, be taken care of as soon as the civilians provide the necessary funds.

The more recreation that is provided for the soldiers, the better the morale will be.

You know a lot of us boys left pretty fair jobs and homes to come into the Army and sometimes we get to thinking about all this and get sort of blue. It helps a lot to have some place to go and have good clean fun to forget all this.

I know there isn't a soldier in my camp that, given the opportunity to go back in civilian life, wouldn't gladly give more than their share to the USO or any other organization essential to the war effort and, believe me, I do think the USO is plenty essential. I'm not saying this because any of us would rather be out of the Army for we feel we have a definite job to do in this war and every civilian should feel the same way about it. The sooner everyone realizes this, the sooner the war will be over.

A lot of sacrifices will have to be made and everyone of us will have to share them alike.

This is all with the utmost sincerity, and I hope it may help you to go over the top in your drive for USO funds.

Sincerely yours,

PRIVATE MARION V. REES
Comm. Co., 502nd Sig. Reg't.

This is the second in a series of letters from boys you know... Watch and read the next one tomorrow.

School for State's Game Wardens To Be in Lake County

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 1.—(AP)—A Lake county country estate—complete with 25-room modern home, guest houses and a swimming pool—soon is to be converted into a training school for Illinois game wardens.

The property, purchased for $50,000 by the state conservation department, is known as the Dering Estate and is located in Lake Villa township of Lake county with 1,500 feet of frontage on the Fox and Petite lakes in the heart of the famed Fox Chain O'Lakes area.

Director Livingston E. Osborne said the property was acquired, for use as a permanent training school for game wardens, because war restrictions blocked the conservation department's earlier plan to construct new training school buildings.

Appraised at $109,756 The Dering property consists of 27 acres of land, a 25-room brick and stone residence, two guest houses, a bathhouse and several other buildings. The land and buildings were appraised by Guerdon R. Green, appraiser for the state highway division, at $109,756, or more than twice the price paid by the state, Osborne said. Funds for the purchase came from hunting and fishing license revenues.

All law enforcement and field service personnel of the department will receive a complete training course at the school, Osborne said. In addition, the department plans to establish a "teachers' institute" where Illinois high school and college teachers may study conservation problems. "We expect to develop a wildlife sanctuary on the property, and to establish and maintain exhibits of wild game and birds," Osborne added. "These will be close to centers of large population where thousands may have the opportunity of identifying and observing Illinois' wildlife at first hand."

Picnickers Are Warned to Beware of Food Poisoning

Picnickers at family reunions or at fairs and workmen who carry dinner-bucket lunches are cautioned against the possibility of food poisoning at this time of year when the weather encourages the growth of the spoilage organism. The cautioning comes from G. I. Wallace, associate professor of bacteriology, University of Illinois, who points out that in just a few hours time food such as potato salad, pastries and sandwiches made with sandwich fillings may come to harbor the spoilage organisms which cause extreme physical discomfort after the food is eaten.

People are wrong in calling this type of illness "ptomaine poisoning," Wallace explained. The word "ptomaine" has long been discarded by the medical and chemical professions in favor of the term "food poisoning." At one time, it was thought that protein foods such as meat, upon decomposing, broke down into substances called "ptomaines" and that these "ptomaines" made persons ill. However, cheese is a product of milk which has changed form, and it harms no one.

Danger of food poisoning is greatly increased if the food requires considerable preparation and handling, as for example potato salad or cream puffs. Then, if these foods are permitted to stand for a long time in warm temperature, as they are likely to do at a picnic, the trouble-making organisms go to work in a hurry. On the contrary, if the food is mixed just before it's eaten, if it's kept in a cold place, or if it's the kind of picnic food which doesn't require much handling, the chances of food poisoning are materially lessened.

Workmen, who must of necessity leave their dinner buckets on the job during the morning, will find that the air will not, as a general rule, cause food spoilage. However, if the food was handled a lot at home and then sits around for several hours in a warm spot, there is more risk of food poisoning. In most cases the cause can be traced back to human handling of the food. Thus the man who takes a slab of cheese on a slice of meat between slices of bread for lunch and tops it off with fruit will not be running quite the risk of the man who fancies various sandwich fillings and custard pie for his noon meal.

Scientifically speaking, the trouble-makers are known as the "Salmonella," or para-typhoid organisms, and the "Staphylococci" group. They are responsible for 99 per cent of the cases of ordinary food poisoning, Wallace said. The staphylococci are the most prevalent organism about the body and sooner or later one of this group may be of the food poisoning type. All of which means that the less handling of food, the better.

Wants Woman on All Community AAA Boards

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Harry N. Scholer, director of the north central division of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, suggests that "we should have a woman on every community AAA committee," because "men won't be available for this work next year."

Lee M. Gentry, state chairman, also addressing an Illinois conference of AAA field men yesterday, pointed out that although no women ever had served on these committees, eligibility rules made no sex distinction. Members, he added, must be directly engaged in farming and derive a substantial part of their income from farm work.

Township meetings for community committee elections will be held Sept. 18, he announced. Farmers attending the meetings must choose local committee

Detroit Holdup Man, Shot by Police, Ex-Convict, Is Belief

Detroit, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Chasing a chase of more than a mile after a daylight robbery of a Household Finance Co. branch, police yesterday shot and seriously wounded a holdup suspect whose fingerprints indicated he was John Curtin, 24, escaped convict from the Joliet, Ill., prison.

A stray shot struck a passerby, Mrs. Otto Wohler, in the ankle and another crashed through a front window of a home.

The robber fled on foot after holding up a cashier and scooping up cash and money orders from cash drawers. Curtin's flight was cut off by police scout cars and he turned to shoot it out with Patrolmen Harold Leopold and Leonard Kramer, who pursued him across fields and over fences. Bullets whistled for several seconds before the fugitive fell, shot through the chest.

Plenty of rubber on every tire after

53,903 miles

A story that shows how you can save the rubber on your car

● IN APRIL, 1937, these Atlas tires took to the road. On May 4, 1942, each had plenty of rubber at 53,903 miles. They show evidence of wear, but they also promise many more miles of careful driving to the owner, Mr. P. of Chicago (name on request).

Unusual mileage? No. The fact is, many motorists have never worn out their tires, have never found out how long they will last, have always traded them in long before their useful life was ended.

With proper care, your tires may last for the duration. Part of that care is up to you. Part of it your Standard Oil Dealer will supply, gladly and expertly.

Right now he's featuring a new war-time method of tire-switching. He "gauges" your tires with a special measuring instrument, Standard Oil Dealers' Tire Mileage Gauge. Then he places each tire where it can give the most service. This is important because the rate of wear is different on all four wheels. This method gets the greatest possible mileage from the set.

See your Standard Oil Dealer today. Have him explain this "Gauge Method" of tire-switching.
